

The Wilderness Center Nature Photo Club

President Rita Boyd opened the December 16, 2017, meeting at the Amish Door Restaurant by thanking the 2017 officers and offering a prayer. There were 28 present.

Reading and approval of the minutes and treasurer's reports were suspended.

Program

After everyone had a chance to enjoy the breakfast buffet, five members showed movie compilations of photographs they've made.

Lisa Lee showed images of bamboo, water drops and birds of prey. Jennie Lambert's images centered around Cathedral State Park, an old growth forest with Rhododendron and fungi. Bryan Leaman showed images from travels to Utah, North Carolina and around home. Ed Jevic's images included Johnson Woods, and old growth forest, and Tappan Lake Park. Mattie Mathis showed images "Through the Seasons" including Spring and Summer flowers, the eclipse from Serpent Mound, Fall color and covered bridges and the Winter supermoon and frosty leaves.

Rita thanked Rich Patrick and Bryan Leaman for running the projection systems over the last year and invited anyone to contact either Rich or Bryan if they have any interest in helping out. She also passed out the schedule of meetings for next year and reminded members that 2018 dues are due.

Lora Davis announced that Fotofest next year will have one fewer categories, combining Wildflowers with Domestic Flowers.

Next meeting

The next meeting will be January 27, 2018. Rich Patrick will be presenting "My Alaska adventure – Photographing Eagles." The shooting topic is "Snowy Winter Landscape."

Respectfully submitted,
Bryan Leaman, Secretary
